Mark Snyder

What is your role at P&A?

Senior Counsel in the litigation group.

What is your P&A Location?

New York, NY.

How long have you worked at P&A?

5 years.

What do you like most about P&A?

The culture. In addition to the way we prioritize people, we genuinely care the most about achieving the best result for the client – regardless of what that looks like. This mentality fosters camaraderie and humility within the office because a great idea can come from anyone.

What makes you an exceptional & vital part of your P&A team?

My ability to work well with different people of diverse backgrounds. Every member of a team plays a critical role in the team's successes or failures, so I look for the strengths in people and find ways to bring the best out of them.

If any, what do you feel is your “super power” that you bring to your job at P&A?

Problem solving. I always try to find multiple solutions to a problem because this helps to weigh different aspects of the issue that may not be apparent on its face. This approach allows clients to make the most informed decisions.

How did you hear about and start at P&A?

Levi Barrett was a friend of mine before he joined the firm, as we had previously worked together. After he joined P&A and began sharing his experience with me, I could tell that it was someplace I also wanted to be. The rest is history.

What is a fun fact that no one really knows about you (that you feel comfortable sharing)?

I still watch Survivor on CBS. My wife, Erica, and I eat tacos and watch the show when it airs on Wednesdays.

What are your strategies for success?

I try to make those around me better by focusing on teaching and communication. Like most things in life, I cannot do it all on my own. By cultivating a team of people who work well together, everyone can reach greater levels of success.

If you had to eat one meal for the rest of your life, what would it be?

Banana peanut butter chunk ice cream from Torico's in Jersey City.

What would be your dream job?

Head football coach at a Power Five conference school.

Tell us about your family.

I married my best friend, Erica, who I met in law school. She's a brilliant prosecutor in Hudson County, NJ, and we have a wonderful son, Logan. Logan is a year and a half old; watching him grow and develop every day has been the most rewarding experience of my life. Our family is rounded out by our dog, Tucker.

What is your favorite vacation spot?

Aruba.
