BIO

Mark A. Rosen is a partner in Peckar & Abramson's New York and New Jersey offices. He concentrates his practice on construction and contract law, public contract law, arbitration, surety, and complex commercial litigation. With over 40 years' experience, Mark's strategic thinking and problem-solving abilities have earned him a reputation as a reliable and resourceful advocate within the construction community.

Mark represents a wide array of clients, including both private and public owners, general contractors, subcontractors, utility and heavy highway contractors, contract and commercial sureties, general liability, property, and builders' risk underwriters facing construction disputes, and project completion issues. He is also experienced in negotiating and reviewing CBAs (collective bargaining agreements) and grievance labor matters for companies and multiple unions throughout the metropolitan area. In addition, Mark advises clients in the review, negotiation and drafting of construction contracts and provides guidance and counsel in project dispute resolution and project crisis management.

Keeping him at the forefront of industry trends and developments, Mark serves as counsel to the General Contractors Association of New York and the Wall, Ceiling, & Carpentry Association of New York, two of the most significant contractor associations in the New York Metropolitan area. Formerly, he was an adjunct professor in Construction Law at the New Jersey Institute of Technology.

A leader in construction law, Mark is recognized by Chambers USA. He is admitted to the bars of New York and the United States District Courts of the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, the bar of New Jersey, and the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey.

Mark received his Bachelor of Arts from New York University in Political Science and Government, and his Juris Doctor from the State University of New York at Buffalo, where he graduated cum laude and served as an editor of the Law Review.
